Chapter 4: Myths and Facts About Sexual Orientation and Gender Identity	1
Myths related to sexuality	1
Myth 1: People could change their sexual orientation if they wanted to.	1
Myth 2: Minority sexual orientation is caused by sexual trauma in childhood.	2
Myth 3: Gay men hate women, and lesbians hate men.	2
Myth 4: Gay men want to be women; lesbians want to be men.	2
Myth 5: Gay men want to look like women, and lesbians want to look like men.	3
Myth 6: LGB people have uncontrolled sexual urges and try to “hit on” anyone they can.	3
Myth 7: LGBTQ orientation may be “contagious.”	3
Myth 8: Children should not be exposed to LGBTQ people nor should adults even discuss LGBTQ issues, as children might be unduly influenced.	3
Myth 9: Gay men are child molesters.	4
Myth 10: Most LGBTQ people are white; there are practically no LGBTQ people among other ethnic groups.	4
Myth 11: LGBTQ people do not have long-term or stable or monogamous relationships.	5
Myth 12: Homophobia, biphobia, and transphobia exist only among heterosexual people.	5
Myth 13: A person is not lesbian or gay if he or she has ever had sex with the other sex.	5
Myth 14: LGBTQ people are blatant: they flaunt their sexuality.	5
Myth 15: LGBTQ people are not happy; many are mentally ill.	6
Myth 16: The Bible or other religious organizations/systems say that it is wrong to be LGBTQ.	6
Myth 17: An LGBTQ person cannot be religious.	7
Myth 18 LGBTQ people want special rights.	7
Myth 19: Bisexuals can choose heterosexual privilege.	7
Myth 20: Bisexuals are confused about whether they are gay or straight; they are really gay or lesbian, but just cannot commit.	7
Myth 21: Bisexuality is just a phase.	7
Myths related to gender identities	8
Myth 22: There are two and only two sexes: male and female.	8
Myth 23: Men and women are different mainly because of their biology, not their socialization.	8

Myth 24: Transgender identity is rare.	8
Myth 25: Transgender people are mentally ill.	9
Myth 26: Transgender people are actually lesbian and gay people who cannot accept their sexuality, so try to change their bodies to be heterosexual.	9
Myth 27: Transgender identity stems from a biological disorder of sex hormones, chromosome anomalies, or brain dysfunction.	9
